November 2026

HOW IT WORKS

One year, one point, €42.52

For every year you earn the average salary, you get 1 pension point. Since July 2026, 1 point = €42.52 per month of pension. Fewer years in Germany = fewer points.

Find your starting age 👇 (pension from 67, average salary)

Started working in Germany at	Years	Pension / month	Less than at 22
22	45	€1,913	–
25	42	€1,786	€128
28	39	€1,658	€255
30	37	€1,573	€340
32	35	€1,488	€425
35	32	€1,361	€553
40	27	€1,148	€765

Example: 1 pension point per year, value €42.52 (since 01.07.2026), before tax and health insurance. Your years in India don't add to the German amount.

⚠️ And that's before tax: pensions are taxed and you pay health insurance on them. The real gap to your last salary is bigger.

INDIA 🇮🇳 + GERMANY 🇩🇪

Moving back one day?

✅ Your pension follows you

Germany and India have a social security agreement. The German pension insurance pays your German pension to you in India.

✅ 5-year minimum

You need at least 5 years of contributions. Under the agreement, insurance periods in India can be added to reach that minimum.

⚠️ The amount stays small

The amount only comes from the years you paid in Germany. Fewer years here = smaller pension in India.

📄 Before you leave

Request your pension record (Versicherungsverlauf) and check that all German years are in it.

THE FIX

3 ways to close the gap

Option	What it is	Why it helps expats
Company pension (bAV)	Part of your gross salary goes into a pension plan	If your employer saves social security that way, they must add 15% (§1a BetrAVG)
Pension depot (AVD)	New state-subsidised depot from 01.01.2027	Up to €540/year + €300 per child from the state
Private pension	Private pension insurance / Rürup	Lifelong payout – you can't outlive it

NO EPF IN GERMANY

Your boss can add money – if you ask

In India your employer pays into your EPF automatically. In Germany, the company pension (Entgeltumwandlung) only starts if you ask for it.

You put in €200

per month from your gross salary

Your employer adds (min. 15%)

€30

per month – many employers pay more

💡 Ask HR exactly this: "Do we offer Entgeltumwandlung with the employer subsidy (Arbeitgeberzuschuss)?"
